service benefits to state Government servants and outsiders who render approved military service during the present emergency on return to employment under state Government.

The undersigned is directed to invite a reference to paragraph 2(a) of Annexure I appended to this Department circular Memo No. G225(88)-Gen., dated 2-5-1963 where in it has been laid down that during the period of approved military service normal prospects of promotion of the incumbent shall also be protected as a result of which the Government servant concerned will be entitled to proforma promotion in his parent Department and also to seniority in the higher post to which he would other-wise have been entitled, if he had not proceeded on military service.

A question has been raised as to whether in cases where passing of any departmental examination(s) in a condition precedent to promotion, a civil government servant, who had not already passed the prescribed examination(s) before taking up military service, should be allowed proforma promotion while he is away on military service. After careful consideration Government have been pleased to decide that in such circumstances a civil Government Servant who had not already passed the departmental examination(s) before taking up military service, should not be promoted while he is away on such service but on reversion from military service he should be allowed to take as many chances to pass the prescribed examination(s) as he might have missed because of joining military service during the present emergency and if he passes the examination(s) in one of those chances, he could be promoted with retrospective effect from the date he would have been so promoted if he had passed the examination(s) in the corresponding chance that he could have otherwise availed himself of, but for his joining military service. To provide for such promotion, sufficient number of persons promoted to the grade concerned should be kept on an officiating basis, if necessary, so that they could be ~~xxx~~ reverted in the event of promotion of the persons returning from approved military service.
